CALGARY POWER CO. FLORENCE GARRETT MANAGER MAKES A FRIENDLY VISIT

Mr. Fraser, manager of the Calgary Power Co. Commercial Dept., was in town on Monday and met Mayor Shrimpton and T. M. Weira at the Town Hall.

Mr. Fraser assured them both that the company was exceedingly anxious to give Strathmore the best possible service, and adjust any grievances satisfactorily, should any arise from time to time.

Shortage of supplies accounts for delay in putting in the extra light which he hoped would be completed shortly.

Mr. Fraser explained that a rate understanding seemed to exist regarding the reconnection charge. The $100 reconnection charge is only applicable to those who become in arrears and from whom the Company have been forced to disconnect service; then and only then does the consumer have to pay $100 reconnection charges.

Each person makes a deposit of $100 when service is first connected, but when that party ceases to use light or power, and all accounts are clear, then and only then is the money held in trust for the time the money has been held by the Company. The matter of trouble with the school board about the meter was discussed with Hector McGregor, Secretary of the Board.

FLORENCE GARRETT RECITAL WAS VERY SUCCESSFUL

The Dining Room of the Memorial Hall was filled to capacity Wednesday evening, December 12th, on the occasion of the Recital given by the pupils of Miss Florence Garrett.

Mr. S. H. Crowther made an efficient chairman. In his introductory remarks he spoke of this as an unique occasion, in that it was the first of its kind to be held in Strathmore, and complimented Miss Garrett on her initiative.

Each small pupil rendered his or her part very creditably, and showed the painstaking care of the teacher. A beautiful bouquet of carnations was presented to Miss Florence Garrett by her pupils at the close of the program. ## A SHORT SESSION OF TOWN COUNCIL

NAMAKA U. F. A. ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Namaka U.F.A. Local was held at the home of E. F. Wheeler on Monday evening, December 17th, with a good attendance.

The Local elected a new set of officers: Mr. L. P. Pinkerton, President; Emile Wilson, Vice-President; S. W. Lawrie, Secretary-Treasurer. James McEwan was elected delegate to the forthcoming convention at Edmonton, with Geo. L. Peterson as alternate.

E. F. Wheeler and James McEwan were selected as delegates to the District Meeting to be held in Strathmore, Tuesday.

Considerable business was also discussed; among which it was decided to call a meeting early in January with a view of getting another Pool Elevator at Namaka or Stobart, either by acquiring or building new.

The Secretary was instructed to get in touch with the Livestock Pool with the idea of getting someone to act as shipper at Namaka.

A resolution favoring the development of electric power by the government was also passed to be presented at the district meeting at Strathmore.

The U.F.W.A. met at the same time and all the old officers were re-elected: Mrs. Harris, President; Mrs. Pinkerton, Vice-President; Mrs. Laurie, Secretary.

Mrs. James McEwan was elected delegate to the U.F.W.A. convention at Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Cowell are the happy parents of a big baby boy, Myrl Cowell.

Noel Slack, who has been in the hospital for some time, is gradually improving.

The Dalemead community wish to express their deepest sympathy to Mrs. Bob Kitz in the loss of her husband, who died December 13th from heart trouble. He has been a resident of Dalemead for many years, and was well liked by all, both near and far. As old as he was, he was spry, and always enjoyed a game of golf. You came around. The deceased was sixty-six years old, and came to Canada to start farming in 1909.

HUSSAR TEAM WINS THIRD GAME THIS SEASON

On Sunday afternoon the Strathmore Juvenile Hockey Team went down for a game on Lead Horse Lake in spite of the blustery weather, a good crowd gathered, and the game was a close one. Score 2 to 1 in favor of Hussar. In the first quarter, Chas. Groux made the goal for Strathmore. In the second, neither scored. In the third, Graham Montgomery to Raymond Walters, made the first goal for Hussar, and in the fourth, Raymond Walters, with a clever play, lashed the puck within the Strathmore goal, and won the game.

The team is as follows:

Strathmore—Goal, Ray Christensen;

On Tuesday night a short session of the Town Council was held. Mayor Shrimpton presiding. Councillors Bailey, Miner, Ridley, Saunders and Taylor present.

The Secretary reported that G. H. Brown had accepted the contract as auditor, and had been on duty in office, after checking over all town equipment, that had been in the possession of Oliver Wright.

The road signs have been received from Mr. Luck, and will be placed in position within a few days.

All minimum school tax payers have settled with T. M. Weira but one, and at present he is an absentee.

The movement of the Maple Leaf Refining Co. was confirmed at $1,900, and assessment upon the addition to the Alberta Pacific Elevator at $800. The assessor has hopes that in 1929 that the information regarding truckage may be more complete, and a larger revenue possible from the O.I. Kings.

A very thorough discussion took place regarding the placing of the new electric street lights, which had been recommended by the Light Committee, most of which met with general approval. It seemed to be the consensus of opinion that a light on Third St. near where the farmers tie up their horses would be much more useful than a light between the Sacred Heart Church and the Valley Boulevard, which is used very little by pedestrians.

The matter of fixing up the entrance to the Council Chamber was mentioned, but left for the 1929 Council to give their earnest and serious consideration.

Current accounts amounting to about $240 were referred to the Finance Committee for payment.

This was the last regular meeting until January 15th.

British Settlers Coming to Canada

Canada is receiving more British settlers than any other country as the result of aggressive publicity campaigns in the British Isles and the United States, declared Robert J. C. Sted, of the Federal Department of Immigration and Colonization, in addressing the Lion's Club at luncheon recently.

THE STANDARD DEVIL

Is very much disappointed that his appeal for "All Subscriptions To Be Paid Up" has fallen on none too fallow ground, and he is beginning to worry just whether there is a real Santa Claus. Look up your label, and if you are a defaulter, come across and make the Devil and all the rest of the staff happy.

If the Standard is not worth it, discount it; and if it is, be a good fellow and pay up—and be a real honest-to-goodness SANTA CLAUS. Don't crowd! At a boy—just two simoleons, please.

THANK YOU!

"Generally speaking, every one wants immigrants as customers, but no one wants immigrants as competitors," Mr. Sted said. "This simple and obvious fact tremendously narrows the field of Canada's operations in the search for immigrants. In formulating Canada's program of advertising for settlers not only the country's physical resources and its business and agricultural conditions must be considered; the psychology of the Canadian people toward the subject is of prime importance."

All these factors are taken into consideration, and as a result our advertising is directed exclusively toward obtaining suitable settlers from the British Isles and the United States. There has been a good deal of clamor of late about Canada not getting its share of British settlers. Well—we are getting more than any other country; substantially more than Australia; more than twice as many as all the British Dominions besides Australia; more than twice as many as the United States," he said.

A Little Service, Please

Just as we are travelling at the private attention of some of the Calgary hotels in showing the morning paper under one's bedroom door, we find that New York has gone Calgary one better. One New York hotel, looks up every evening, the home addresses of its guests. This hotel is connected with an agency which receives hundreds of town papers from U.S. and Canada, and the hotel management shows under the door of each guest his own home town paper, or one that may be nearest to his town. This has made a delightful sensation amongst New York transients, and the hotel has gained in patronage. But other hotels will promptly fall in line. After this when we go to Calgary, we expect to have the High River Times furnished us by the hotel management.

SPORT NOTES

SHARKEY WANTS

FIGHT-A-MONTH

BOSTON, Mass.—Rounding into fighting form after an injury which kept him out of the ring for three months, Jack Sharkey, Boston heavy weight contender, has announced he intends to engage in at least one bout a month in his campaign to prove his claim to Gene Tunney's vacated title.

Will Meet Any

Sharkey has agreed to meet Tom Healey, Johnny Hake or any other heavyweight named by Tex Rickard in the latter's heavyweight elimination tournament and will make his first appearance in New York in January. Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, entertains hope for another Sharkey-Dempsey bout. In a recent conference, Rickard told Buckley Dempsey preferred another bout with Sharkey than any of the other contenders. The last Sharkey-Dempsey bout drew a gate of $1,000,000 and Rickard told Buckley he believed another bout would attract a million and half gate.

Ployd Fitzmaurice, Detroit promoter who claims to have talked over a Sharkey-Dempsey bout with Dempsey, has approached Buckley for Sharkey's signature. Fitzmaurice's plan call for a bout to be held at Windsor, Ont., to avoid the heavy government tax in this country. There is only a 25-cent tax on each ticket in Canada regardless of the price of the ticket.

"I will sign for another Sharkey-Dempsey fight when my promoter can show me Dempsey's signature on a contract," Buckley said. "And not until then."

BALL PLAYERS

PLAYING BASKETBALL

NEW YORK CITY.—The track of professional baseball players to basketball, and extra winter coin, already has begun. Andy Cohen, Jewish second baseman of the Yankees, is leading a pro five playing around the metropolis. Lou Gehrig, hard hitting first baseman of the Yankees, may join suit. Gehrig's close call with a bunch of coin with his all-star team last winter, the Gehrig-basket tossers playing in New York, New Jersey and New England.

A number of promoters, including Ed Holly, manager of the Montreal International league, would like to sign Babe Ruth for a basketball tour, figuring that the Bambino would be a big attraction despite the fact that he can not play the court game. Ruth has essayed the sport once or twice, and while he showed nothing much in the way of form, he drew the crowds to the box office. Holly, one of the promoters anxious to get Ruth's John Hancock affixed to a basketball contract, operated an all-star five, composed of well known baseball players, for three or four seasons. Holly's basketball team had a big rep in New York and New England. Nick Altrock and Al Schacht traveled with it for a time clowning around before the game and offering a burlesque turn during intermission.

"Harry Rooden, Brooklyn second baseman and the best known diamond performer in the professional basketball, is playing in the National league this year. The Long Island Italian has been a court star since 1926, playing on clubs all over the East. He is one of the highest priced men in the game, and is reputed to make as much if not more at basketball than he does in baseball. Bob Grody, International Eastern and New England leagues pitcher, is another crack professional basketball player. Like Rooden, Grody is performing in the National league this year. Rusty Saunders, who outplayed in the Eastern and New England circuits a greater number of last season, is a third well known ball player who stars at pro basketball. One of the fastest action shots show show waltzers in the East, Saunders is a great performer. He is appearing in the national league this winter.

Carley (right), who has scored major league rounds on numerous occasions, is also a star pro basketball athlete. Rocky Harris, Detroit manager, was bright shining light in the basketball constellation until his appointment as chief of Washington, when owner Griffith forced him to give up the sport for fear of injury. Posthumus Prusich, Cardinal second sacker, also thrilled court fans for several seasons. Manager John McGraw of the New York team, finally inducing Prusich to quit. Prusich had a bad knee, the condition of which was aggravated by strenuous forty-minute basketball sessions. He still acts as a referee on occasions.

A number of managers, by contract and otherwise, have managed to restrain their star performers from essaying professional basketball, holding that the danger of injury to legs and arms is too great, and the sport saps away too much of an athlete's reserve strength.

GARNER BRINGS

HOME THE BACON

BALTIMORE, Md.—Ability of Mack Garner to think quickly netted him just $4,000 profit for his own misstep in the Gadden D. Bryan Memorial Handicap at Bowie. Despite the fact that he failed to carry out riding orders, he was highly praised by Owner Leo J. Marks and Trainer Mose Lowenstein.

When Lowenstein booted Garner into the saddle his final instructions to Garner were to be sure to lay in behind Victoria and make no attempt to outrun the Harry Payne Whitney three-year-old.

At the barrier Mistep was on the outside of Victoria which is usually a quick breaker. Garner, however, was a trifle more alert than Workman and not away fully a half-length in front of "Sonny Boy". Immediately Garner drew his whip and bounced away ahead of the entire field, gaining on the rail, and at the same time shutting out Victoria.

Once out in front Garner decided that it would be folly to take back and carry out his instructions. He merely took a safe hold on Mister and allowed him to run free and easy. Turning for home he was but a neck in front of Victoria. As he came under the wire he had but a small advantage.

"That was a great ride," commented Lowenstein.

"Yes, but I did not follow your instructions," replied Garner. "Had you done so you would not have won the race," chirped Owner Marks. "I promised you $5,000 if you won the race, but I am going to double that amount. That extra $5,000 is for displaying human intelligence."

Owner Marks pulled down $43,000 as a result of Garner's quick thinking.

PUNCH BROADBENT WAS

HERO IN WORLD WAR

OTTAWA.—When Tom Gorman bought his Broadbent from Ottawa he got for Gotham a player who was one of the heroes of the world conflict. He tracked to France early, and was one of the best little gun layers in the Canadian artillery. Has been a hockey ace ever since coming home.

OLDEST REINSMAN IN #### WORLD STILL ACTIVE

CORNISH, Me.—William F. Cody, more familiarly known as Buffalo Bill, rode hundreds of miles in his ramblings across prairies, but there is a gray-haired old reinsman in the world who does his corn husk more ground than the famous man of history. He is Frank Fox, the 76-year-old harness horse driver. Fox, who is the oldest active reinsman in the world has just completed his 59th campaign as a driver. When it is stated that three miles constitutes a race (and it was necessary to go as far as five in the old days) and that a pilot may drive as many as three miles a day and campaign approximately 25 weeks a year, one can get a fairly good idea how many miles Fox has covered around race tracks.

CHRISTMAS 1928

In writing our Christmas Editorial this year, we would like to think of Christmas, but a great deal of good Christmas is a season of joy, and we hope that in homes everywhere that it may be a season of joy. That Christmas will bring something in its wake, which will leave as hundreds of friendships, gifts that will long be cherished.

We like to think at this particular time of those really good stories of Christmas by Henry Van Dyke, "The First Christmas Tree" and "The Fourth Wise Man." Of those touching tales written by England's greatest novelist, Charles Dickens. And then people might even be expected at this time to take up The Book again and read the original story of Christmas. It is well that these simple stories should be told over and over again this year, bringing a satisfaction and an inspiration that will last.

however, should begin to translate the story of Christmas in a very practical way. Now, we don't intend to get serious. We are just now getting interesting.

The Spirit of Christmas, 1928, finds the world far from giving it a whole-hearted welcome. In thousands of households it will, but from observation we know that in the majority of Councils of Nations it will not. From men everywhere have been telling us that amongst the reason of war, national prejudice and the maintenance of armaments, will stand prominently in the foreground.

Let us, at this Christmaseve, resolve that during the coming year we shall know something more about the great neighbouring nations lying alongside of us, and of those across the seas. It is well that some of their ideals and customs should become appreciated and worked into our pattern, and vice versa.

Young people's organizations everywhere should take it up with a zest and KEEP AT IT—THERE IS NO PLACE FOR ENMITY. Let us find for ourselves some penetrating slogans. Let us map out some definite plan of action. Let us stick to our purpose. There is a place for enmity.

Newspapers should take it up. Some portion of their columns should be a Peace Program. From their pages should come the message that would give the people a new song. From these sheets should come the impetus that would give those coming under its influence and its leadership, a new vision, a new courage, and a greater understanding.

With the dawning of another Christmas morn, comes the song swiftly over the still morning air, "Peace On Earth, Good Will To All Men," and I believe that I can hear it being taken up by thousands of other voices, for young men and women are mobilizing for peace. They have come out now to look for the star, and they shall find it, and in its finding will be their salvation.

THE SAVINGS AND DOINGS OF MANY PUBLIC MEN

William H. Murray: "Children like charity, man sometimes make it his beginning at home."

H. J. Deacon, of the Consumers' League, appeared before the Tariff Commission, in regard to the cement inquiry, remarked at the outset, that the inquiry had been notable for the absence of the old protectionist arguments. It had been conceded that there were no imports at the present time, but at the same time it had been stated that if the duty were removed the foreign combines of carrels would quickly "swallow up our little cement trust."

He found this impossible to believe, and called attention to the fact that the statistics produced by the industry showed that the level of prices in the United States is higher than in Canada. This indicated that in the event of the removal of the duty Canadian mills would have first access to the market to the south more easily than the United States plants would find access to Canada. A few days later, in a discussion of the reduction of tariff, would be in the best interests of the Canadian industry.

He showed by quotations from the statistics that profits in 1922 had been 50 cents per barrel; in 1925, 45 cents, and in 1926 25 cents. Yet this gradual decline in prices had greatly stimulated the sale of cement, and had resulted in vastly increased profits to the manufacturers.

"Our manufacturers have been making tremendous profits," he declared, "and yet they tell us that they cannot face the competition of free trade."

He asserted this to a fear which protection seems to instill into industrial leaders, and he called upon them to rid their minds of gloomy forebodings, and to face the world like the Canadian farmer, without need of foreign assistance.

St. Leonard Dunning: "Red tape is a good thing up to a point, but it must have a certain amount of elastic in it here and there."

Herbert Hoover: "True democracy is not and cannot be imperialistic."

William Patterson: "What we have matters less than what we are doing to work out our national economic problems in a spirit of co-operation and mutual helpfulness."

J. Dabney Day: "We would rather have one man or woman working with us than three merely working for us."

Stanley Baldwin: "I have always cherished among the books I have loved many American books of olden days."

John C. Penny company operators of a chain of general stores in the United States, bought "Dick," the champion steer at the 1928 livestock show at Chicago, at a price of $7,000. The animal was owned and raised by Clarence Goecke, a 12 year old school boy of State Centre, Iowa. The previous record high price was $350 a pound, in 1926, for the champion, which weighed 970 pounds. Clarence Goecke received $850 for "Dick" and had previously collected prizes amounting to $2,600.

WEATERS extending greetings to Mr. Fraser, Commercial Manager of the Calgary Power Co., who is a native of "Glasgow." LESTER JONES pointing out that he was not driving his car when it was parked out in the country, as he had loaned it to Frank Clutchie on Sunday night—but that if it differed does it make, Frank was not frightened, were you, Frank? N. Watson. HECTOR McNEILLOR feasting on a duck dinner. Gee, but these Scotchmen are good to themselves; who wouldn't welcome the 'fin and then be put on such a nice diet. H. E. G. H. School pleading with John C. Buckley, M.L.A., to come and have lunch on Tuesday. H. E. G. H. had heard the "dinner" and wanted immediate action. Finally his pleadings got results.

Canada Wants Larger Share in Short Than Long-Wave Radio Band

OTTAWA, Ont.—Canada is not prepared to accept the same proportion in the short-wave radio band as was recently allocated to it in the long-wave band at a conference at Washington, was the intention received from the department of marine and fisheries which has control of radio in this country. If United States insists on the same proportion of the short waves, officials here said, it would be impossible for this country to agree to it and accordingly another conference would not be of much benefit. However, it was explained that Canada has not refused to enter such a conference. The absence of the minister and deputy minister of this department from the city made it impossible to obtain a definite statement.

When the long wave band, which is the one in which the commercial broadcasting companies operate, was under discussion in Washington, Canada was only able to obtain the exclusive use of six channels and to share eleven others of a total of 95. To divide up the short-wave band in the same ratio would be out of the question, officials here said.

For a considerable portion of this country the only means of communication is the short wave. All government instructions to the Mounted Police in the north and all reports from the north to here are on short wave lengths. All the government services in the north are operated by short wave wireless and for that reason this country needs more channels.

For it were like the United States, practically covered by land lines. Canadian officials say that this country should have half the short wave band and the opinion was expressed that until Washington officials recognize Canada's peculiar needs in this respect, a conference would not get far.

SEE BILL SAUNDERS FOR NEW TOPS AND CURTAINS

For all makes of rabbits and steers, for your old flannel every morning, and to see young man Dr. Toffery offered the position of Secretary of the newly formed Department of Extension. Mr. Ottewill began his work with a few books, a magic lantern, some slides, an old Ford car, and Miss Montgomery, and in the fifteen years that have passed, he has succeeded in building up one of the largest organizations of its kind in Canada, and it is of interest to note that from such small beginnings it now serves directly and indirectly every year about 50% of the people of the Province.

Mr. Ottewill has now been appointed Registrar of the University and I have been chosen to succeed him as Director of the Department of Extension. I am afraid I cannot fill his shoes any more than I can fill any other part of his wearing apparel, but one can only do one's best. During his fifteen years' experience lecturing all over the Province, Mr. Ottewill has spent many hours entertaining himself from mudholes. It has been said that he has been stuck in every slough from the Peace River to Coult, and some of us have been thinking that he will probably find it a bit lonely at first in his new office, so we have arranged to dig a large mudhole about a mile from the city, and when he gets thoroughly fed-up we are going to run him out there in a Ford car and let him spend a day digging himself out. In serious mood, however, I am sure we all feel that he will be sore each year when the F.Y.P. comes, and I think we can persuade him to take some part at least in the program.

And now we have come to the last day of the conference, and there are a few things that one would like to say to you before you go. I would like to congratulate you upon the large number of delegates that you have succeeded in bringing to this the tenth annual meeting of our organization, and of the splendid way in which you have conducted yourselves during the week. You are certainly the best looking crowd that we have had here (since last year) of their kind for new ones last spring. Here and there you see a copper running along with a store of food for the winter. They know it is ture, but when 8 o'clock came, in a little while after every morning, and to see the first-night was held I faced as fine a crowd of young people as I have ever lectured to anywhere. They had come in from the surrounding country, and they had come to listen to what was not simply an entertainment, but an educational talk, and it seemed to me a splendid demonstration of the fact that the Junior T.P.A. all through the country is actually standing for the best and highest things.

3. I hope that you will go back to your homes with a better sense of the dignity and value of your work. In that prayer of our Lord's which we have repeated here every morning there is a sentence which has always impressed me as being a sort of divine charter for the men on the farm—"Give us this day our daily bread." What greater task could any man have than to cooperate with his fellows and with nature in giving the world its daily bread? Is not that after all fundamentally the basic truth in your organization? Is not the meaning of your motto "Each for all and all for each." Do not allow yourselves to get too much engrossed in land and machinery and prices. Think at times of the spiritual significance of your work. God's richest blessings have always come to men and women who are close to the soil.

4. Finally, I would like to remind you of what Mr. Wood emphasized in his speech to you the other day. He said that you are probably the most favored group of young people in the world today. I think that is true. You are beginning your life at a time when the organization to which you belong is at its greatest. I think that is true. You are beginning your life at a time when the organization to which you belong is at its greatest. I think that is true. You are beginning your life at a time when the organization to which you belong is at its greatest. I think that is true.

A FLAG ACROSS THE WORLD

Victoria, in Australia, has a village named after the village of Beconsfield in Buckinghamshire, and the English village has been delighted to receive a Commonwealth flag from its Australian namesake.

Every child in the Australia school has worked a few stitches into the stars of the flag.

Beautiful old furniture made, by craftsmen hundreds of years ago, intricately carved with their own hands, and with the scale of artistry, beautiful embroideries, made lovingly by the fingers of women, holding their colours through the centuries, just as lovely today as when finished 500 or 600 years ago. Surely that has something to say to us.

Surely it is that Beauty and Honesty of Purpose have a tremendous significance; that they play a most important part in moulding National Character, and that we in Canada in our pride of youth and modernity would do well to recognize their spiritual worth, and lay hold of them, and help us in our task of Nation building.

THE APPROACH OF WINTER

By John Monstra

Winter, to many people, seems to spell a series of dire days. There is, however, much to look forward to.

Day by day the stern clouds seem to turn from a blackish-blue color to a grey. They seem to be storing up their bosoms with tons of snow, ready to hurl upon us to make Christmas day look white and pure. The leaves have fallen, the grass and flowers are nearly all dead. What does it mean?

Winter is coming.

How wonderful it is to know that all the plants of the universe seem to understand that winter is near. They have stored their roots with food for the coming year, and thus are not really dead. They have merely cast off their clothes for new ones next spring. Here and there you see a copper running along with a store of food for the winter. They know it is

New Wheat Crop

With a view to clarifying, in part at least, the situation which has arisen as the result of the publication of the report of Dr. F. J. Birchard, chemist in charge of the Dominion Grain Research Laboratory at Winnipeg, a very lengthy and complete article has been prepared for the benefit of pool members by A. C. Cairns, statistician of the Canadian Wheat Pools. Pending the installation of laboratory equipment in the pool's new office building, the staff and laboratory of the department of chemistry of the Manitoba Agricultural College, were placed at the disposal of the pool by Prof. W. F. Geddes and the analyses which accompany the report were made under the personal supervision of Prof. Geddes in his own laboratory. Samples used were of the various grades used as average of inspections to date at Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary and Winnipeg and standards of grades as set by the Grain Standards Board at Winnipeg on October 9.

The following is part of the statement and the conclusion arrived at by the writer of the article:
"As everybody knows, a large proportion of this year's crop is grading below No. 3 Northern. It is also common knowledge that prices of low grades are very disappointing and that thousands of farmers are selling their crop at figures which fall far short of covering the cost of production. It is not surprising, therefore, that producers are dissatisfied and are asking why their wheat is little for their wheat. However, the fact that farmers throughout the West are complaining so bitterly about current prices of low grade wheat is to be attributed in part at least, to a report dealing with the quality of this year's crop, issued by the Dominion Grain Research Laboratory of Winnipeg. The writer does not criticize the report for what it contained, as the quality of low grades of wheat is admittedly very good, but rather for what it did not contain. The paper, in its circulation of an official report which purports to give a true picture of the relative milling and baking values of the various grades but is accompanied by highly necessary qualifications and interpretations has, as one would naturally expect, led to a tremendous amount of confusion and misunderstanding.

and No. 5, is very good, as good as present discounts of these grades. In the opinion of the writer, to great, there is no sound basis for the view held by some farmers, obtained by accepting at its face value the report of the Dominion Laboratory, that low grades are practically of equal value to the high grades. If such a view were tenable, mill managers would indeed be very foolish to continue to buy high grade wheat at present prices when they could obtain low grade wheat for much less money. If low grade wheat is nearly as good in milling and baking quality as high grade wheat, why is a large Canadian mill using only twenty per cent. of No. 3 Northern wheat in its standard mill mix, for which "mix" it is paying very close to the price of No. 3 Northern?

"Apart altogether from the superior quality of the higher grades, as shown by experimental milling and baking tests, the higher grades are more valuable than the lower grades solely for blending. When considering the quality of low grade wheat in relation to price, farmers should bear in mind that high protein content of wheat is only one of several factors necessary for the production of flour which will produce good bread; that the quality of protein in wheat is more important than its quantity, and protein content of grades below No. 3 Northern is not an index of quality. Moreover, cereal chemists, including experimental milling and baking, is very far from an exact science and many of the methods necessary for the production of flour which will produce good bread are subject to various interpretations and conclusions drawn from results of such investigations have to be modified before being applicable to commercial plants. Price is by no means dependent solely on the relative quantity and quality of the various grades, but is determined to a large extent by the relative supply of each grade. If we had a small instead of a very large supply of low grades, the high grades would be selling for much lower premiums.

"The writer is of the opinion that many cereal chemists are prone to over-emphasize loaf volume as a criterion of quality. Flours may be deficient in diastatic enzymes (the substance which breaks the starch down into sugar which, when in turn breaks down into alcohol and carbon dioxide which gas causes the bread

Conclusions
The milling and baking quality, judged by all the commonly used measurements of same, of grades No. 1 to No. 5 inclusive, is much better than the quality of the same grades last year and equal to the quality of these grades in previous years.

2.—The baking quality of grades No. 4 and 5, judged by every criterion of quality (such as quantity and quality of protein, absorption, fermentation tolerance or gas producing and gas retaining capacity, color and texture of crumb and crust, etc.) is surprisingly high and is probably higher than the quality of these grades in any previous year. The damage done by frost to the wheat grading No. 4 and No. 5 is more apparent than real and seems to be confined to the outer covering of the kernel. In view of the fact that a large proportion of the wheat crop was practically matured before the appearance of the first frosts it is not surprising that the quality of the flour-producing portion of the kernel was not injured. The relatively high quality of grades No. 4 and 5 may be ascribed in part to the very considerable proportion of well-ripened kernels which these grades contain.

3.—While the yield of flour produced by grades No. 4 and No. 5 is appreciably lower than the flour yield produced by the higher grades, the yield is nevertheless relatively high due to the unusually heavy weight measured barrel of the grain from the No. 6 and feed is not only materially lower than the flour yield of other grades, but the quality of the flour produced, particularly as indicated by the texture and color of the bread, is distinctly inferior.

"The experience of the large mills in Western Canada confirms the above conclusions. We are informed by several mill chemists that all their experimental investigations indicate that the quality of all the grades of this year's crop is very much better than the quality of last year's crop, and that the quality of the low grade in particular is excellent. A number of millers who included only a small percentage of the low grades in their mill mix in the early part of the season are now grinding a relatively large proportion of grades No. 4 and No. 5."

A Chicago girl of 17 has three husbands, but many girls twice her age haven't more than one or two.

A rich U.S. doctor, seventy-six years old, was whisked off to an insane asylum on the eve of his wedding. As if that was any indication of insanity.

A well-known actor was playing a round of golf with an elderly clergyman, and things were not going very well for the latter. The minister was of color, and fortune smiled at him not at all. He became more and more depressed as the game went on, until finally the actor remarked cheerily as he put away his clubs: "Never mind, sir. One day you'll be burying me, you know."

"Well, what's the use of that?" snapped the clergyman. "Even then it'd be your hole."

The Doctor's servant was returning home after his day's labour, and his master instructed him to bring a bottle of medicine for his next-door neighbor who was a patient. Next morning the Doctor inquired: "Did you deliver the medicine last night, Tom?"

Tom: "Yes, sir."

Doctor: "Do you know if he took any of it?"

Tom: "Oh, he must have, because I saw crepe on the door this morning."

Aunt Het says: "I didn't hear Nellie McChung lecture, but I'm sure she's smart. Nothing but a great mob would make her satisfied with that kind of hat."

Alex was fishing. Jim Moran passing asked: "How are the fish today, Alex?"

"I dunno, ken," said Alex. "I've dropped 'em a line, but so far they've made nae reply."

Housewife: "Are you not the same man to whom I gave a piece of mince pie last week?"

Tramp (flatteringly): "No, num, I'm not; an' woe's me, the doctors say, I never will be the same man again."

An indignant old Scotch boy was criticizing adversely the bass solo of the new organ called upon the organist. "One of those new pipes that drive away every ear."

"It's no to be wouded of at that, Sassen, a javeel at him if he skil'd you blithering ditty."

Customer: "Very sorry, but I can't pay you today. My shoemaker, Casey Nering, has just been here, and—"
Bill Tierney: "Yes, I know! Just met him on the street. You told him you couldn't give him anything today because you expected your tailor."

Teacher: "If I were to say to you, 'You were late at school yesterday, would it be right?'"

Pupil: "No, mum."

Teacher: "And why not?"

Pupil: "Cos I was late."

A minister, in addressing his flock, began: "As I gaze about I see before me a great many bright and shining faces."

Just then 87 powder puffs came out.

She (protestingly): "That's just like you men, A man never gets into trouble without dragging some woman in with him."

He: "Oh, I don't know. How about Jonah in the whale?"

"I want a nice picture for a wedding present," said Bill Tierney.

"Here is a suitable one. It is called 'The Approaching Storm.'"

The printer's "devil" wanted a raise. He went to his boss and asked for a dollar a week. "Do you think you are worth it?" he was asked. "I do," was the reply. "I have been thinking so for three weeks, but have been too darn busy to say so."

Pond Mother: "Oh, Mr. Watson, don't you think my dear little froglet will ever learn to draw?"

Mr. Watson: "No; that is, not unless you harness him to a cart."

A bashful young couple, evidently much in love, entered a crowded train. "Do you think we can squeeze in here?" he asked, looking doubtfully at her blushing face.

"Don't you think, dear, we had better wait until we get home?" was the low, embarrassed reply.

A little negro schoolgirl down in Florida in answer to one question, "What is anatomy?" wrote the following:
"Anatomy is a human body. It is divided into three parts—the head, the chest, and the stomach. The head holds the brain. If there is any, the chest holds the liver and the lungs, and the stomach holds the entrails and the voice. The stomach, a, b, c, d, e, f, g, h, i, j, k, l, m, n, o, p, q, r, s, t, u, v, w, x, y, z, and sometimes w and y."

"I'd like to get a pipe. It's for a Xmas present for my husband," Bob Humby: "Want kind of a pipe, mam?"
"One of those new pipes that drive away every ear."

When the committee appointed to visit the members of the church to collect for the fund for the purchase of the new organ called upon the Smiths, the men were invited into the dining room to discuss the matter. The business concluded, Mr. Smith called to her husband from the living room, "Well, what did you give them?"

Mr. Smith replied: "Jones would not take anything, but Robinson took whiskey."

Many happy memories of over two hundred children gathered last Friday at the Memorial Hall to display themselves in fancy costumes and enjoy themselves to their heart's content. The first Children's Frolic was a great success; everyone entered into the spirit of the evening, and seemed to have no trouble in having a good time.

The younger children played games until 9 p.m. when the lights were lowered, the curtains drawn back, and a finely lighted Christmas tree became the object of their admiration. Old Santa Claus came from behind the tree and distributed a bag of something good to eat to all. From then on until close to midnight fun was fast and furious at times. The judges were in a dilemma in selecting the winners, but judging by the applause the decision received, their choice was "best care and origin" in costumes.

THE KIDDIES

FRIDAY IS A HAPPY THOUGHT

The Kiddies Frolic under the auspices of the Canadian Legion and the I.O.E. will be held on Friday, December 21, and promises to be one of the happiest events of the Christmas season. Every child in the Strathmore School Fair District is cordially invited to be present, and the entertainment has been arranged so that groups of ages will be entertained at different hours.

The happy thought of W. S. Paterson to provide such a night's pleasure for the kiddies is being assisted by the members of the Legion and the I.O.E. most enthusiastically. The bringing together of the school pupils throughout the District will bear fruit in the future success of the Strathmore School District, and is a most commendable work.

STRATHMORE SCHOOL CONCERT MERITS YOUR SUPPORT

The Strathmore School Concert will be held on Thursday night, December 20th, and a splendid program has been arranged by Principal S. H. Crowther and the members of the staff.

The pupils have entered into the spirit of making it a real success, and everyone who attends will be amply repaid, and thus, present will be the further satisfaction of having encouraged the staff and students by showing their interest in school affairs.

The surplus, if any, after expenses have been met, will be used to purchase a lantern for school work, a very much needed addition to the school equipment.

Remember the date and make it a point to be present, thereby giving your personal support, as well as also financially aiding in the work of the school—your school, whether your children are now in attendance, or that they have been in attendance and passed on to take up their life work or you may be one of those in the blessed state to which W. S. Paterson exists, of "living in hopes". Irrespective of the family situation, be among those present. Thank you.

THE SYMBOL

OF PROSPERITY AND HOSPITALITY

The greatest bird on the American continent is of the hen or the eagle, but the turkey gobbler, the lord of the barnyard and field marshal among the fowls. See him strut in the fullness of his pride, tall feathers spreading, head up, wings trailing, but not ingenuously. His crimson comb and purplish wattles give him the appearance of a red-faced and important gentleman who is querulously concerned in everything going on about him. Such pomposity, dignity and swagger is rare. His irritable "gobble, gobble, gobble" strikes terror into the hearts of little children, but is music in the ears of the more sophisticated who envision him trussed up in a roaster, and stewing in his own juice, for particularly apply to W. A. Freeman of Ardenode, who now counts his flock not in dozens but by the thousands.

It will be remembered that at the famous Thanksgiving feast of the Pilgrim Fathers in November, 1621, in which the friendly Indians participated, wild turkey was the chief delicacy. Once this chaste bird was plentiful, but now the wild species is all but extinct. Young turkeys are hard to raise and the Thanksgiving and Christmas demand often exceeds the supply.

There is no substitute for the turkey gobbler in sight. As compared with him the rooster is plebeian and the gander "a lesser breed without the law." The gobbler is a symbol of prosperity and a token of hospitality as well.

"What was the denomination of that bill you loaned me?"
"Quintessential, I guess. It keeps lent."

WHY THE SCOUTS WERE LATE

A Tale of Camp
An East-end London Troop of Boy
Scouts camping in Essex for church, and an observer of the reason why is afraid they might be thought slack and be blamed for not acting up to their motto "Be Prepared", so he sends us an account of what really happened, and a very charming account it is. This is what he says:

The bugle sounded for Church parade at an hour allowing ample time for inspection, tuning up by the band, and the march to the Church. Time had been allowed for a pause outside the house of the farmer in whose field the camp was pitched.

In reaching the farm they formed up and played "Abide With Me", and then the Scoutmaster turned and saluted the farmer's large family, who had assembled to listen, but one member of the family, the mother, was not out.

"Anatomy is a human body. It is divided into three parts—the head, the torso, and the limbs. The head is the top of the body, the torso is the middle, and the limbs are the arms and legs."

"Tell me, dear," he said, after an outburst on her part, "how was it that I never discovered this unfortunate weakness of yours during our courtship? How did you restrain yourself?"
"I was afraid, if there it was," the head of the family and the limbs, and the torso."
